

IPPS Western Region 51st Annual Meeting
Bellingham, WA September 8-11, 2010
Exhibitor Opportunities

The International Plant Propagators' Society – Western Region, will be holding its 51st Annual Meeting this year in Bellingham, Washington. The Western Region draws its membership from the western US, including Hawaii; and Canada and Mexico.

The multi-day meeting features presentations by members and other industry leaders on plant propagation and production topics, local area nursery tours, an auction, and a banquet. Two hundred of the Western Region's top propagators and growers will be attending, so this is a great opportunity to be seen by important customers.

We would like to invite you and your company to participate in our meeting. There will be an area for tabletop displays in the adjacent room where the Silent Auction plants and items are displayed. All of the meeting's breaks will also be held in this room, so there will be extensive time for the customers to review your literature and information. Some exhibitors have a sales rep with the tabletop display during these breaks, but it is not required.

The fee for exhibitors is only $250! Thank you for taking the time to consider this opportunity to participate in this important meeting.
